SNOW AND FREEZING TEMPERATURE

Bit of Real Winter Weather Sets in For Holiday Season Rains Badly Needed.

A bit of real winter has dropped down upon Cloverport within the last few days and set in for the holiday season. Sunday morning revealed a two-inch snow over the

EXTRA SESSION CITY COUNCIL

Report of Equalization Board Deferred; Jones Granted Pool Room Licenses.

At the called meeting of the City Council to accept the assessment list of the city of Cloverport, and the report of the Equalization Board, as the report was not made out clearly, it was passed over to the regular meeting.

William Jones was granted license to operate seven pool tables. The reduction of the license on picture show was referred back to ordinance committee. Several made complaints that their assessments had been raised too much, but the Council ruled the right to change the assessments made by the Equalization Board.

ground. This was the first snow of any consequence this winter and a delight to the youngsters.

Sunday was one of the most disagreeable days of the winter. The rainfall on top of the snow made the streets and sidewalks perfect ponds in many places so that they were almost impassable. The rain was followed by freezing temperature Monday leaving ice covered streets.

Rains are badly needed in this section because of many families who depend upon their water supply coming from cisterns and the slight rainfall has left many persons without water

St. Mary's Of The Woods Church Scene Of Happy Christmas Festivities.

McQuady, Dec. 28. (Special)—The Christmas festivities at St. Mary's of the Woods, were very impressive and will long be remembered by those present. The church which was filled beyond normal seating capacity, was beautifully decorated with holly, cedar and artificial snow, and lighted by hundreds of candles.

The significance of the event was the midnight celebration of High Mass followed immediately by benediction.

This being the first time in the history of St. Mary's parish that midnight services have been celebrated.

Special music, which had been carefully selected for the occasion, was furnished by a choir of twenty-eight mixed voices, accompanied by an orchestra of six pieces. Mrs. Paul O'Connor presided at the organ.

The musical program was as follows:

Adeste Fideles - - - Novello

The work of the choir was extraordinary and in so-much as it stood out so preminently, is worthy of attention from the point of view that such achievements can be accomplished only by unceasing efforts on their part, together with the hearty cooperation of the pastor, who directed the rehearsals.

During the services Father Kneue having wished his parishioners the blessings and greetings of the season preached a most eloquent sermon in which he related the mysteries involving the coming of the Christ Child in the world.

FORCED TO GIVE UP RAILROADING

George Sharpe Says He Was In Bad Shape Before Taking Tanlac—Feels Fine Now.

"My health got so bad I had to give up railroading, but since taking Tanlac I could fire an engine as good as any man on the C. & O." said George P. Sharpe, 1628 Tremont St., Fairmont District, Cincinnati, Ohio, a valued employee of the Lukensheimer Co. Mr. Sharpe was formerly with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad for seven years.

"About four years ago I had an operation which finally resulted in a general breakdown. I got—to where I couldn't eat anything without bloating up so bad I could hardly breathe and the constant jolting of the engine almost put me out of commission. My nerves gave way, I could hardly stand the noise of the train and sleep was next to impossible for me. I fell off a great deal in weight, and had so many dizzy spells I could hardly stay on the job. Although I tried medicine after medicine, nothing did me any good, so about six months ago I had to change to lighter work."

"But I don't believe I could have held out at this long if I hadn't got better. But Tanlac helped me right from the start, and it wasn't long before it had my stomach working fine, just like the old engine I used to fire. I eat anything I want now and nothing gives me the least trouble, and my nerves are in such good condition I sleep like a log every night and get up mornings feeling fine. In fact, I am again in perfect health, just as strong and well as I ever was, and I want to say Tanlac is what fixed me up. I wouldn't think of being without it."

Tanlac is sold in Cloverport by Wedding's Drug Store, in Kirk by Mattingly Bros., in Addison by L. D. Addison, in Ammons by Wm. H. Dutschke, and in Stephensport by R. A. Shellman.—Advertisement.

MOVING PLYMOUTH ROCK.

Plymouth Rock is to be moved again, for the fourth time in its history. The contract has been let for taking it back to its original position on the great granite base on the shore level, which is seven feet below the present site.

It was in 1774 that the Rock was first moved from its original site. On that occasion a twenty yoke team of oxen was hitched to the stone and it was hauled up to the Town Square of Plymouth to serve as a base for a flag pole. In 1823 occurred the second moving day, this time the stone being taken to Pilgrim Hall, where it remained until about forty years ago, when it had its third translation to the site known to the present generation. During this last moving the Rock was split into three pieces. These have been cemented together, a condition that will necessitate great care in its final journey back to the "point or place of beginning."

This one of the tasks undertaken by the Pilgrim Tercentenary Commission, which also proposes to remove from the canopy of the Rock the supposed bones of some of the Pilgrims who died in the first year after the landing at Plymouth and to bury them on Coles Hill, the original burial ground where the bones of other Pilgrims who died in that first year also lie. The Tercentenary Commission has established Coles Hill as the permanent Pilgrim burial ground, thus disposing of the proposal to remove elsewhere the bones buried there.

With the contemplated transformation of the Plymouth waterfront into a park as a permanent Pilgrim memorial there should be an appropriate setting for Plymouth Rock. It is to be hoped that with its return to its original site it will carry with it all the traditions of that distinctive and remarkable New England spirit which has spread into every part of our land and into our insular possessions, to their spiritual and material benefit, a spirit which so long as it endures will make for the betterment of our country and of mankind.—N. Y. Herald.

THE BUCKWHEAT CAKES.

I fell in love with Millicent
And almost told her so.
I was entranced with Gladys, too,
And called myself her beau.
For Mabel, Maud and Madge my heart
Endured distressing aches.
Until I met Janet and her
Ambrosial buckwheat cakes.

All smoking hot and feather light
Am delicately browned,
Well buttered and with honey drenched
She brought the tasty mound.
I ate and ate and asked for more;
Henceforth for chops and steaks
I had no wish, my appetite
Demanded buckwheat cakes.

If she had been less young and fair
It would have been the same,
The hand that flipped the buckwheats was
The hand I yearned to claim.
I wedded her, alack! alas!
How oft we make mistakes,
It was her mother, not Janet,
Who baked the buckwheat cakes.

U. S. LIKES AMERICAN POULTRY

American Class of Poultry Are Found Best For General Purpost Fowls.

In the American class of poultry are found the Plymouth Rock, Wyandotte, Java, Dominique, "Rhode Island Red," and Buckeye.

The fowls of these breeds are commonly called general-purpose fowls, because they are not only good egg producers but their carcasses are also well suited for the table. They are therefore the best breeds for the general farm flocks of chickens, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. They are in good favor, too, with the poultry packers on account of their table qualities.

All the American breeds lay brown-shelled eggs. They all have yellow skins, and shanks free from feathers, which are desirable qualities for table fowl in this country. In size they are intermediate between the smaller egg breeds, such as the Leghorns, and the larger meat breeds, such as the Brahmas. In temperament they are also intermediate, being less active than the egg breeds, but more so than the meat breeds. They are fairly good foragers. The American-class birds mature earlier than the meat breeds, but not so quickly as the egg breeds. They are sitters and make good mothers.

CLOSE OF SEASON GOOD TIME TO MAKE FARM INVENTORY

With another season of farm work drawing to a close, the United States Department of Agriculture is urging that an annual property list or inventory be made by every farmer. It is the only means, department specialists say, whereby farmers may know accurately their net financial worth, what progress they are making from year to year, and how their investment in farm property is being distributed. Property lists, or inventories, made in accordance with a plan outlined in the Office of Farm Management, United States Department of Agriculture, are not difficult to make and are of great value to any farmer who is striving to better his condition, overcome obstacles to success, and place his business affairs on a secure foundation. To drift along year after year, not knowing whether toward success or failure, is not the practice of business men. Specialists of the department are prepared to give complete directions for making a farm inventory that will put the farm on a business basis.

Miss Mary Louise Hardaway, of Frankfort, and Thos. Hardaway, of Indiana, arrived Thursday to spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hardaway.

Misses Wilda Triplett, of New Albany, and Marian Compton, of Garfield, spent the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Triplett.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our beloved sister, Mrs. Katherine Babage Rowland, who passed on to her great reward one week ago today. To her family she was like a ray of sunshine in our homes. She held steadfastly to those whom she loved and who were nearest and dearest to her. Her life was simple and unpretentiously lived, yet there was nobleness hid within that endeared her to those who knew her. She possessed an infinite love of family, of friends and in giving joy and happiness to others.

We shall cherish her memory and the intimate associations with her in the sentiment of the poet when he said:

"Long, long be our hearts with such memories filled,
Like a vase in which roses have long been distilled;
You may shatter, you may break the vase if you will,
But the scent of the roses will hang around it still."

WAS LONELINESS THE CAUSE OF EMPTY FARM HOUSES?

In his annual report for the Department of the Interior Secretary Payne bewails the decrease in the farm population. He cites as an example Ohio, where the number of vacant farm houses increased, in the year ended June 30, 1920, from 18,000 to 29,000, and where the number of men and boys on farms decreased 30 per cent. The Secretary offers only one reason for the swing from rural to urban life:

"The difficulty is that people do not like to live alone, but prefer to live in towns and villages and to enjoy society and the conveniences and comforts of modern life which are beyond the reach of a scattered population living on large farms."

If that excuse had been given twenty or thirty years ago it would have had more behind it than it can have to-day. In the last decade most of the conveniences and comforts of modern life have been put at the farmers' disposal.

Every well to do farmer, wherever he may be, can have modern water supply, central heating, and his own easily operated electric lighting plant. The motor car takes him and his wife quickly to markets, shops and the theatres and carries his children to a good school. The talking machine and the mechanical piano bring plenty of music into his home.

Never has farm life been less lonely than it has been in the ten years which have seen the march from the plough to the city shop. And the real reason for the movement was not loneliness. It was the discovery by the farmer's son that he could get more money for less work in the city. The war made this doubly possible. Now for the first time in five years it looks as if the desertion of the farms would slow down.—The New York Herald.

It was John Wanamaker, the widely known merchant, who gave this plan for the New Year's resolution:

Resolve to cultivate this year an honest ambition to excel in some distinct way by superior intelligence or industry in the discharge of the duties which fall within your sphere.

In whatever position a man is placed, if he does things above what is ordinarily performed by those of his rank he distinguishes himself for special consideration.

There is a superiority obtainable for every heroic man or woman who will exert him or herself to do so, and it is highly honorable and worth while to pay the price for it by application, self-control and earnest endeavor.

Take the heroic road.

A million pounds of butter arrived in New York last week exported by the Cooperative Creameries of Denmark, and will be marketed in this country at fifty-five cents a pound. Can it be real butter?

Our New Year's greeting is to wish for each of our readers three hundred and sixty-five days filled with joy, peace and prosperity.

JUST WOULDN'T

BE COMFORTED

The church visitor found Mrs. Wilhamsburg, the second lady on the list, moping in tears.

"For goodness sake," she exclaimed, "what ails you now?" "O, I'm so lonely," wailed the afflicted one. "I am cooped up all day. I see nobody—I go nowhere. O dear! O dear!"

"Well, then, why don't you get out, join some women's clubs, stir around and be somebody?"

"Because I think too much of my home," sniffed the sorrowful sufferer. —Harper's Magazine.

REJECTED, BUT NEEDED AID

"Very well, then," sighed the stout suitor as he knelt before his adored one, "if you won't, you won't, but will you be kind enough to give me your hand?"

"Why, I have just positively and definitely refused you!" the fair maid exclaimed in astonishment.

"O, I understand that. I'm not again asking for your hand in marriage, but to help me to my feet." —Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

REALLY POOR MAN.

A man is poor:
If he is without friends.
If he has low-flying ideals.
If he has a guilty conscience.
If he has lost his self-respect.
If his morals are questionable.
If he has lost his grip upon himself.
If he is selfish, uncharitable or cruel.
If he has forfeited his health for wealth.

If his mind and soul have been neglected.

If he has traded away his character for money.

If his wife and family do not love and respect him.

If he has a disagreeable disposition that makes enemies or repels people.

If making money has crowded out the cultivation of his aesthetic failties.

THE PATH OF DUTY

'Tis not a little winding path,
Rose-bordered, dear, and fair,
Within a garden picturesque,
To wander, free from care.

Nay, you will find the path is straight
And narrow, plain at best;
But peace will your companion be,
In beauteous garments drest.

Tewksbury, Gertrude Louise Small.

SERVICE THE MEASURE OF SUCCESS.

Boy's Life

It isn't the cut of the clothes that you wear.

Nor the stuff out of which they are made,
Though chosen with taste and fastidious care.

It isn't the price of the things that you paid;

It isn't the size of your pile in the bank;

Nor the number of acres you own.

It isn't a question of prestige or rank.

Nor of sinew and muscle and bone;

It isn't the servants that come at your call.

It isn't the things that you possess,

Whether many or little—or nothing at all.

It is service that measures success.

It isn't a question of name, or of length

Of an ancestral pedigree,

Nor a question of mental vigor and strength;

Nor a question of social degree;

It isn't a question of city or town,

Nor a question of doctrine or creed;

It isn't a question of fame or renown;

Nor a question of valorous deeds;

But he who makes somebody happy each day,

And he who gives heed to distress,

Will find satisfaction the richest of pay,

For it's service that measures success.

A SECOND-HAND PRESIDENT

1800-Jan. 7, Millard Fillmore, born in Cayuga county, New York.

1829-31—Member of New York assembly.

1833-35, 1837-43 Member of congress.

1848—Elected vice president.

1850-July 9, sworn in as thirteenth president, aged fifty. Sent Commodore Perry to Japan.

1856—Nominated for president by Knownothings and Whigs, and defeated.

1874—March 8, died at Buffalo, aged seventy-four.

MILLARD FILLMORE, the second vice president to be promoted by death, was the most commonplace president even in a twenty-year period when the presidency remained at low-

the part which he played—the dummy of northern trimmers in politics and of southern traffickers in slaves.

A fable of the day hit off the truth.

The new president must have a carriage, and "Old Edward" Moran, a White House attendant in many administrations, took him to see a handsome outfit, whose owner was leaving

Washington and would sell it at a bargain.

"This is all very well, Edward,"

Fillmore mused, according to the popular yarn; "but how would it do for the president of the United States to ride around in a second-hand carriage?"

"But, sure," argued "Old Edward,"

"Your Excellency is only a second-hand president!"

Frank Carter, of "Welcome Hall" farm, went to Louisville, Sunday to spend a week with their uncle, Mr. William Schmidt, and Mrs. Schmidt, and their aunts, Miss Minnie Schmidt and Sister Mary Raymond at the Sacred Heart Academy. The Misses Carter will be the honored guests at several entertainments planned for them during their visit.

HUN RAIDERS NEATLY TRICKED

Quick Wit of Chinese Cook Responsible for the Destruction of the Cruiser Emden.

Some time ago a mercantile marine officer, who during the war was on naval service, related to me the following interesting episode in regard to the capture of the Emden:

The famous German raider landed in a company of men on the Cocos Island in the early hours of the morning when most of the men in the wireless station were asleep. The detachment of Germans were under orders to put the wireless apparatus out of action. Near the beach they came across a Chinese—one of the cooks at the station mess. Him they seized hold of and commanded to lead them to the telegraph office. Unfortunately for the emissaries of the fatherland the cook kept his wits about him, and, unknown to his captors, managed to signal to one of his fellow countrymen, who was also a station servant and who happened to be near, that he was to convey the news of the landing with all speed to his masters.

This man slipped away post haste to the operator's quarters, and in the meantime the cook led his guards by a round-about way through the bush to their destination.

Apprised by the Chinese who had come direct as to what was happening, the operators were able to send out a wireless that the Emden was in the offing, so that by the time the Germans had arrived on the scene the Sydney had picked up the message and was making at full speed toward the enemy.

The Germans, not knowing that their presence had already been betrayed arrived at the instrument-room and soon demolished its contents, no doubt feeling they had done a good morning's work. Alas! their calculations were all upset through the presence of mind of a humble Chinese cook. The latter, I believe, was not forgotten by the British authorities, for I have reason to think he now lives a gentleman of ease and leisure in his native town.

That was the way Sunday was kept in western New York a little more than 50 years ago. I can remember hearing my mother say that when she was a girl in this same New York state village, she was not allowed to walk except to the cemetery and back, on Sunday, and was not allowed to read any books except the Bible and "Fox's Book of Martyrs."—Christian Herald.

SUNDAY HALF A CENTURY AGO*Spirit and Letter of Commandment Both Thoroughly Obeyed in Western New York.

My mother was born and reared in a little country village in western New York. On the farm where my grandmother lived it was the custom to begin Sunday on Saturday night at sundown. The "hired man" came in from the chores, grandmother put away all her work in the kitchen, and then the entire family gathered in the "best room" and studied the Sunday-school lesson, or had a reading from the Bible, led by grandfather, and all the family retired not later than 9 o'clock.

In the morning, after doing none but the absolutely necessary chores on the farm, the team that had not been used the day before was hitched up to the big four-seated wagon and the entire family including the "hired" help, went to church. There was preaching service in the forenoon, and then we adjourned to a lunch for ourselves and the team. Then we went in to a Sunday-school service, and after an interval there was another preaching service, after which we hitched up and drove slowly back to the farm.

That was the way Sunday was kept in western New York a little more than 50 years ago. I can remember hearing my mother say that when she was a girl in this same New York state village, she was not allowed to walk except to the cemetery and back, on Sunday, and was not allowed to read any books except the Bible and "Fox's Book of Martyrs."—Christian Herald.

X-RAY MACHINE INVENTED FOR FITTING SHOES

Radiography, the science to which the most opaque of substances reveal their inmost secrets, has scored another triumph; this time not in the field of pathology, but in that of the very common every-day service of selecting and correctly fitting proper shoes, according to an illustrated article in the December Popular Mechanics Magazine. An X-ray apparatus has been brought out for use in shoe stores, by means of which the purchaser and the sales-person can see whether or not the bones of the foot are distorted or restricted by the shoe being tried on. The device will not only settle any controversy which may arise as to proper size, it will also show, without leaving chance for argument, whether shoe is of the correct design and shape.

WEATHER WISE

White Thanksgiving was a memorandum. It said quite briefly, "Winter."

It was a memorandum to go and do a number of errands which usually get put off until the snowflakes and low mercury memorandum jogs our attention.

This seasonal organization of our life is a curious chapter. Most of us are hardly aware of it at all. When the weather gets hot we go and buy certain articles. When it gets cold we go and buy certain other articles. Talk about your deep-sea fishermen being weather-wise! Shrewd tradesmen can keep tabs on the progress of the seasons merely by what customers come in and ask for, and by the numbers in which they ask for it.

The season, with most of us, gets to be a mood—a frame of mind. A certain kind of weather happens along and, presto! we are in the mood of Spring, or Autumn, or Winter, and trot around to buy the things needful for that season. A dealer in straw hats or muslins will tell you that on a hot day an east wind bearing the cool breath of the salt water will well empty his store in 15 minutes. Or a timely snowstorm will turn all minds to the wherewithal for keeping warm, or keeping hot, or keeping the holidays. The mild season we have been having has had much to do with slowing up trade. The snow flurry on Thanksgiving has helped to speed it up. Unseasonable weather throws out of gear our whole commercial machine.

That our seasonable errand should so often await the prods of heat and cold rather than go by long foresight is an ironic comment on how much more we learn through our hides than through our heads. But nature, too, is weatherwise. She sees to it that we learn, by one route or the other.—Boston Globe.

THE LITTLE INDIAN CANOE.

By Florence Fairman Stooley.

"Oh, Uncle Henry," cried a small boy, "where did you get that little boat? Isn't it a fine one?"

"That came from up North Donald," said Uncle Henry. "It's an Indian canoe and I saw the Indian who made it."

"Oh, Uncle Henry, did you really?"

"Yes indeed," replied his uncle, "and it took a good deal of skill to make it. Every Indian boy is ambitious to learn how to make a good canoe. How would you like to own this one, Donald?"

"Own it? I own that canoe?" gasped Donald, pleased and surprised at so generous an offer.

"Certainly. That very canoe. Why not?"

"Oh, oh, Uncle—"

"If you will cut the grass in my yard, and do it well, I'll pay you by giving you the canoe."

"Where's your lawn-mower?" asked Donald eagerly, "I'll begin this minute."

"It's in the tool house," answered his uncle.

So Donald ran off to the tool house and soon returned with the lawn-mower. For over an hour he pushed it up and down the yard; then he ran into the house and called "Uncle Henry, please bring me the canoe. I'm all through."

"Oh are you?" asked his uncle in great surprise, "there's a patch over there by the garden—and another by the kitchen walk that don't look as though they had been touched since last week. Of course if you'd rather not finish your job, I'll pay you fifteen cents for what you've done. But that little canoe—you see it's made of real birch-bark and by a genuine Indian—and well made, too—sewed and bound firmly and neatly. It wouldn't be right for me to give you that unless you had done the whole job, Donald, and done it well. I'm sorry, but I can't do it."

Back to the yard went Donald. I'll try it again," he said.

For half an hour longer he cut and trimmed, till the lawn was as smooth as a green rug.

Then he brought Uncle Henry out to inspect the job. "All right, my boy," said Uncle Henry. "Here's your canoe."

HOW ABOUT "EATS?"

Farming has been the chief topic discussed by 35 Governors assembled in Harrisburg. Every executive of a State in which agriculture is important seems to be thoroughly alarmed over the awful plight in which the American farmer finds himself today. What has been deflation in many lines of business has become a toboggan slide when it reached foodstuff. The farmer has seen his bushel of corn sold and resold by speculators, and now the price is so low that the corn in his barn is not worth hauling to market. He might buy young stock and fatten them during the winter, but he has not the price and no bank to do just that. O man, what is good, and what doth the Lord require of us?—

YOU LOVE LIFE MORE

Takes on a Different Color When Your Blood Is Rich and Free From Poison.

TRY TAKING PEPTO-MANGAN. If You Feel Listless and Depressed, Your Blood Is Clogged and Sluggish.

Without knowing why, you find yourself feeling unhappy. You go around day after day half asleep. Interest in what is going on around you lags and life becomes dull. The beauty of radiant sunshine, lovely flowers and the entrancing miracles of life you miss entirely. Living, eating, sleeping, become more or less of a bore.

That is what clogged, sluggish blood does to you. It poisons your thoughts. You are only half alive.

You need a good blood-enriching tonic. Take Pepto-Mangan for a few weeks and notice the big improvement. Pepto-Mangan is an agreeable tonic and is heartily endorsed by physicians.

Your druggist has Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form. Buy whichever you prefer; one has exactly the same effect as the other. Make sure you get genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and look for the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," on the package. Advertisement.

will see him through.

The Governors are so stoked up that they are likely to do an unprecedented thing—send a committee of their conference to the coming session of Congress to plead for the farmer and suggest that the Federal Treasury help him out.

The inflated values in which we have all been living have extended to agricultural real estate. Millions of acres have changed hands at very high prices. Mortgages and loans have been arranged on the supposition that the farms were worth their purchase price—and now the bottom has dropped out of the food market.

The 1920 census shows that more than one-half of America's population has moved to town. (The majority has always been on the land until now.) The food question is more acute than it has ever been and the prospect is that thousands of farmers will be sold out and ruined.

The protest of the man in the fields is only just beginning. It will have its echo in cities living on shorter rations. America must eat before it does anything else, and if we plan to eat we must find some way of making farming worth while.—Boston Globe.

BURGLARS ARE ORIGINAL

Use Unique Method of Breaking Into Store.

What was perhaps the most unique way of breaking and entering a place of business in the record of the Atlanta police headquarters was reported by the manager of Tesler's Style Shop.

Burglars removed a panel two feet square from the rear wall of the store by using a brace and bit. Holes were bored in four lines, making a square, and then the panel was pushed out.

The burglars entered the store and carried away clothing valued at $4,000.

Men's and ladies' suits, silk stockings and silk socks and large quantities of underwear were stolen.

"There has to be a breaking and entering to constitute a burglary," said one of the police officers, "but this is a case of boring and entering."

World War Made Many Old Maids.

Because 35,000,000 men lost their lives in Europe and Asia during the World War 15,000,000 European women will die old maids. These figures are given by Doctor Schweisheimer of Germany.

Paper Umbrella Out Soon.

An unusual novelty will be placed on the market soon in the form of a paper umbrella, the New York Sun states. It is said that this newfangled rain shelter will be a very satisfactory substitute for the traditional alpaca or silk. It will retail for 50 cents, thereby cutting the cost of umbrellas down to a sum that should be considerably nominal these days of the $8 and $10 variety.

The color of the new umbrella will be black and the paper of a composition absolutely waterproof and crackless. It will have steel frame, wooden knob handle and a ring at the lower end of the stick. Those in charge of the manufacture of the novelty say it will be durable and that it will roll as small as a silk one.

Nothing on Her.

An aristocratic lady gave a dinner party during the waiters' strike in New York. A young girl of the type known as buxom waited on the table. She seemed quiet and unobtrusive, and was efficient. After the dinner was over, the hostess said she would sign the check. When she had written her name she turned to the waitress and said: "Perhaps I should tell you that I am Mrs. Blank, so there will be no mistake. My handwriting is rather illegible."

The waitress picked up the check, glanced at the signature, and said:

"Well, dearie, you ain't got nothing on me!"

FISHES FOR BIRDS WITH ROD AND LINE

Boston Curator Thus Catches Rare Specimens for Aviary.

The way to catch birds, according to the beliefs and practices of George Morse, curator of the Franklin Park Zoo, Boston, is to fish for them. A bamboo fish pole with a small fish line noose and snow shoes completes the curator's outfit for "bird fishing."

Nor is this a fish story. A reporter saw him catch three birds in this manner. Since February 4, when he sighted his first two birds and caught them, he has "landed" a full dozen of rare little feathered songsters from the far north.

This included four pine grosbeaks, two evening grosbeaks, which are birds especially rare in this section; five purple finches and one red top. It is Mr. Morse's opinion that the deep snows farther north have completely covered all possible food and that the low fruited bushes of the park have attracted the birds.

Curator Morse spends all his spare time tramping over the snowy miles of park expanse in search of these rare birds. He knows that the first thaw will send them north again and he is eager to capture as many as possible to put on exhibit in the aviary with the other costly and rare specimens.

Curator Morse always tries to work up upon the bird from the rear. He pushes his pole into such a position that the noose is just over the bird's head. Then he drops it gently. There is a flutter of wings, a surprised protest and the little creature is fairly caught.

Then the curator hauls in gently and the bird is soon in captivity.

RACE SOON TO BE EXTINCT

Pigs in Wake of Civilization Have Spelt Doom to the Polynesians of South Seas.

hat modern civilization is bringing death and extermination to the splendid race known as the Polynesian, is the claim of all travelers who have spent time on the beautiful southern Pacific Islands. Charles Bernard Nordhoff, in the Atlantic Monthly, in sorrowing over this says:

"To say that Christianity was their undoing would be absurd; they died and are dying under the encroachments of the European civilization of which Christianity was the forerunner. Everywhere in the South seas the story has been the same, whether told by Stevenson, or Melville, or Louis Becke. We brought them disease; we brought them cotton clothing (almost as great a curse); we suppressed the sports and merriment and petty wars which enabled the old islanders to maintain their interest in life. And lastly, we brought them an alien code of morals, which succeeded chiefly in making hypocrites of the men whose souls it was designed to save. Today there is nothing to be said, nothing to be done—the Polynesian race will soon be only a memory."

New Method of Identification.

Not only are the finger prints of every human being different but the position of the bones of the fingers, and also the shape of the nails are different. Doctor Beclere, a well-known student of radiography, utilizes this fact in a new method for identifying criminals. The method consists in making an X-ray photograph of the hand, showing the bones and the fingernails. Ordinarily such a photograph would not show the flesh, but in order that the record may be complete the fingers are soaked in an opaque salt, by means of which all the lines and marks are clearly shown. Doctor Beclere considers that the possibility afforded by his discovery of keeping a record of nails as well as of finger prints should prove of the greatest use in identifying criminals.

Vast Wealth in Liberia.

The Sun and New York Herald a few weeks ago was probably the first newspaper in our country to announce that Liberia, in West Africa, had just come into view as very rich in natural resources, both agricultural and mineral.

It is nearly as large as the state of New York, fronts on the Atlantic for about 300 miles and its coast belt is only about twenty miles wide. North of the coast belt the whole country is a vast forest, through which Sir Alfred Sharpe of England has recently penetrated. He has informed the Royal Geographical Society of the enormous population of this, till now, unknown forest land and of the unexpected resources, including gold and other minerals, that await development there.

Radio Control for Airplanes.

There can be doubt that if the war had lasted a few months longer we would have witnessed the leading armies employing great fleets of airplanes controlled by radio means. The United States army had progressed pretty far along this line when the armistice was declared. The same can be said for Germany. Now we learn that the French have demonstrated that five or six small and inexpensive bombing planes, without pilot, can be successfully guided by a "shepherd" in a larger plane through the means of Hertzian waves.—Scientific American.

GRODNO BATTLE IS DESCRIBED BY AN EYE WITNESS

Capture by Poles Was Serious Blow to Soviet Army.

POLES START NONE TOO EARLY

Their Advance Was Merely a Fore-stallment of the Bolshevik Offensive—Enormous Forces Were Concentrated on the Polish Front—Polish Artillery Firing Was Excellent, but Bolshevik Firing Was Weak—Boy Scouts Take Prominent Part in Fighting.

The battle of Grodno, in which the Poles won a decisive victory over the forces of Soviet Russia, is described by an eye witness in the London Times. Writing from Warsaw this correspondent says:

"The loss of Grodno was a serious blow to the Soviet government. The Bolsheviks had concentrated enormous forces on the northwest Polish front, those defending Grodno consisting of twenty per cent of Communists. There were eleven divisions of infantry, seven divisions of reserves, plus two cavalry divisions, and a new lately formed fifth army. The Polish advance was merely a fore-stallment of the Bolshevik offensive. Events have shown that it was started none too early. Delay might have been fatal."

"Grodno lies in the cup of a ring of hills which form a perfect natural defense. The town itself is built on the steep banks of the Niemen, and its numerous white towers, clustering in the midst of the thick forests which hide the slopes of the river, present a picturesque scene from the neighboring heights.

Watches Bombardment.

"On the eve of its capture I lay in the front line trenches of the attacking forces and watched the bombardment of the outer fortifications. They fell during the night, and the Polish artillery moved up to the heights encircling the city. The Polish firing was excellent. The Bolshevik reply was weak, for although the aim was not defilement and wanton wreckage met the eye.

"I was greatly struck by the presence among the Polish troops which took Grodno of considerable number of Boy Scouts. These scouts took a prominent part in the actual fighting. The company I met numbered seventy scouts, aged from fifteen to nineteen. It had originally numbered 140, but had already lost half its members in killed and wounded. They were accompanied by Girl Scouts, who performed sanitary and Red Cross work.

"The rank and file of the Red army form a marked contrast to the Communist regiments which defended Grodno. Polish aeroplanes fly over the Bolshevik lines and distribute large quantities of 'prisoners' passes,' telling the Red army men that if they come over with these slips of paper they will be well received and well fed. These 'prisoners' passes' have been a great success.

"I have spoken to many of the Red prisoners and their story is always the same. They are mobilized at the point of the bayonet. If they hide in their home woods their wives and families are arrested. They are sent down to the front in locked box cars.

"One group of twenty men from the district of Smolensky, belonging to the fifth division, whom I met on the road a few hours after their capture, said their journey to the front took four days, during which time they were given no food or drink, nor were they let out of the train.

"In the end they ate the trampled scraps and leavings of fish heads, bones, etc., which they had thrown on the floor the first day. At the front their rations were four vobla (a most unpalatable fish) for two days. Everything else they were told to seize from the peasants.

"They were given rifles only just before the attack, when a machine gun manned by Communists was placed behind them, and they were warned that if they did not advance they would be mown down.

"The Communists had told them if they were taken prisoners the Poles would beat, starve and torture them. None the less, they seized the first opportunity to hide in the woods during the attack and desert, 'because (to use their own words) nothing could be worse than their Communists.' They were delighted at their reception by the Poles, and expressed intense satisfaction at having been given two solid meals already that day.

"Among the various papers I picked up in Grodno was one headed 'Down With the Retreat!' 'Poland Must Be Smashed to Atoms' runs this proclamation. 'The tide has already turned. Not only are we no longer on the defensive, but we are preparing our great blow and have even begun our offensive. . . . We are mobilizing all our Communists and shall shortly be victorious on all fronts.' Of late I have many times recalled to mind the parting words of Comrade Axelrod to me at Kovno, 'Give my regards to Pilsudski,' he said sarcastically, 'and tell him we shall meet him very soon—in Warsaw.'

Place Where John Brown Was Tried and Executed Offers Prize.

The town council of Charles Town, historic seat of Jefferson county, West Virginia, famed as the place where John Brown, insurrectionist, was tried, condemned and hanged, has offered $50 as a prize to the person who will submit the most acceptable new name for the town. The similarity of Charles Town and Charleston has resulted in all sorts of confusion, and merchants, manufacturers, farmers and people generally of Charles Town have come to the conclusion that the name should be changed.

The general assembly some years ago authorized the name to be divided into two words "Charles Town," but railroad, postal and telegraph officials and clerks continued to make mistakes.

Corpses intended for interment at Charles Town have been frequently shipped to Charleston, the state capital.

A large manufacturing concern has refused to locate in Charles Town because of the confusion.

Actress Rejuvenated by Thyroid Gland Treatment.

"I feel I could jump over the house," said Connie Eddy recently. She was for many years the principal actress at the Gailey theater in London, afterward going to America. Every body has been struck with her youthful vigor despite her fifty years. The secret of this rejuvenation is that she for four months has been taking a thyroid gland treatment.

She has taken altogether twelve injections of the extract. She is overjoyed at the result, although she confesses to a latent fear that she may slowly turn into an animal of the monkey type, which would have its compensations, she admits, since she ought then to have no difficulty in amusing her audience.

Speaking seriously she says she doesn't know what fatigue is. She feels ready to dance and sing all the time. She had been suffering with her heart, which is all right now despite the fact that she smokes fifty cigarettes daily.

COATS FOR SPRING*VAQUE ABOUT "RED" LEADERS

But Young Bolshevik Soldier Had Heard of Trotzky, and Incidentally of Lenin.

I have just had a talk with a Bolshevik soldier, captured by the Poles when he was participating in a bold scouting enterprise. He is a young man twenty-one years old, coming from one of the interior departments of Russia. He is illiterate and a confirmed Bolshevik.

Discipline, he said, was very good in the Bolshevik army; still they did not obey orders because they were orders, but "as a matter of conscience." The military forms of address had been abolished and even the officers were spoken to as comrades. Naturally the soldiers stand at attention before their officers; but that was because every soldier in the army follows the bidding of his conscience and "it would be foolish" not to stand at attention before one's commander.

He had never seen a general or any of the higher officers, but he knew the commander in chief was called Trotz-ky, and that there was another head man. He pondered a moment trying to recall who the second one was, and then suddenly remembered, "Lenine." He knew nothing more about him, and did not know the names of any other commander.

He kept saying "Everyone on one side is a Bolshevik," and seemed to be impressed with the great power and authority of the Bolsheviks. When asked who Trotzky was he replied, "A very popular Jew." "The Jews are much liked in the army. They never allow themselves to be captured. They hate the Poles so, and the Poles hate them so—and invariably murder them—that they prefer suicide to being made prisoners."—From the Vossische Zeitung (Berlin).
